

WEDDING.—On Thursday last, a very pretty wedding was celebrated in the Wesleyan Church, Bingham, the happy couple being Mr. George Arthur Attenborough, son of Mr. Jos. Attenborough, of Worksop, and Miss Aggie Strong, of Long Acre, Bingham. The bride and bridegroom are well known in the town, both of them being active members of the Bingham Choir Union, and the bride also a teacher in the Wesleyan Sunday Schools. Consequently, a goodly number of friends assembled in the Church to witness the ceremony, the service being fully choral. Promptly at 1.30 the bride entered the Church, attired in white silk, and carrying a lovely shower bouquet. She was accompanied by her brother, Mr. John W. Strong, who subsequently gave her away, and also by two bridesmaids, Miss Mary Attenborough (sister of the bridegroom) and Miss Hilda Morris (cousin of the bride), who were attired in pale heliotrope, and also carried large bouquets. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Walter Fewster, who acted as best man. The Rev. J. R. Longstaffe conducted the service, and Mr. C. Doncaster, L.N.C.M., presided at the organ, playing the usual wedding music. The hymns, "The Voice that breathed" and "O perfect Love," were sung during the service. The presents, which were very numerous, included a handsome clock from the choir and teachers. Mr. and Mrs. Attenborough left during the afternoon for Port Erin (Isle of Man), where the honeymoon will be spent.

WEDDING - On Thursday last, a very pretty wedding was celebrated in the Wesleyan Church, Bingham, the happy couple being Mr George Arthur Attenborough, son of Mr James Attenborough of Worksop, and Miss Aggie Strong of Long Acre, Bingham. The bride and bridegroom are well known in the town, both being active members of the Bingham Choir Union and the bride is also a teacher in the Wesleyan Sunday Schools. Consequently, a goodly number of friends assembled in the church to witness the ceremony, the service being fully choral. Promptly at 1.30 the bride entered the church, attired in white silk, and carrying a lovely shower bouquet. She was accompanied by her brother, Mr John W. Strong, who subsequently gave her away, and also by two bridesmaids Miss Mary Attenborough (sister of the bride) and Miss Hilda Morris (cousin? of the bride), who were attired in pale heliotrope [purple] and also carried large bouquets. The bridegroom was attended by Mr Walter Fewster who acted as best man. The Rev JR Longstaffe conducted the service and Mr C Doncaster LNCM presided at the organ, playing the usual wedding music. The hymns "The voice that breathed" and "Oh perfect love" were sung during the service. The presents, which were very numerous, included a handsome clock from the choir and teachers. Mrs and Mrs Attenborough left during the afternoon for Port Erin (Isle of Man) where the honeymoon will be spent.